Development deets a point and click away

PDC. Dalhousie-based group launches site to track, map HRM projects

Halifax residents now have a one-stop shop for information on all developments in the urban core, complete with details about proposals and who's building what.

The Planning and Design Centre (PDC) Construction Site provides an interactive map of projects within the HRMbyDesign downtown area, colour-coded by stage of completion.

"If people are trying to understand what's happening in my neighbourhood, or what's going to happen with that hole in the ground, they know they can go to this place and get good, quality, up-to-date information and figure out what the plan is," said PDC operations director Ross Soward on Monday.

Soward said information about development projects can be scattered among websites for HRM and individual developers, and it isn't always easy to find.

By providing it on a single site, Soward said the PDC hopes to "raise the level" of discussion around planning and development issues in general, but also with a specific focus on the public meetings held before a developer applies for a permit.

Take a look

Visit the PDC construction site at pdcentre.ca/construction-site/

"We want to bring decision-making more out into the open, so we want people to feel as though they're much more part of the planning process and not that decisions are being made in the backroom," said Soward.

He said a project like the Nova Centre might have benefited from communicating designs to the public via the site.

"People didn't have a clue what was going on there. It was a hole in the ground for over a year," he said. "We know they're digging ... but we don't know what the next stage is in terms of final approvals and things like that."

Currently the site contains information gathered by PDC staff from public sources, but Soward said it's hoped that developers will eventually start uploading their own plans to the site. RUTH DAVENPORT/METRO

Metro asked readers if cameras inside taxis are a good idea to help keep cab drivers safe. Here are some responses:

@BowChickaB: Yes, to protect the cab driver and the passenger needs to be activated automatically (not controlled by cabbie) :-)

@jbignell: Why just cabs? Should every public transport system have them? Ambulance, police, etc?

@annahoward62: Yes. That way we can monitor their performance and keeping them safe. I love my casino taxi driver who drives the Prius #eco

@TheDrake1001: Yes to cameras. Also Yes to 'Taxi Cab confessions: Halifax' too. #SteamyBackseat

Facebook

Lisa Bungay: Oh heck yes! All public transportation should have cameras. Taxis especially!! Drivers don't know who they are picking up, nor do people using taxis know who the driver is! I think it protects both parties better than no surveillance.

Sara-Jane Mansfield: I don't agree with the idea in the cabs. If I got into a cab I would feel really offended. I don't want to be recorded if I got into a cab and saw a camera pointing at me.

Jim Pickett: Shield is better than camera in preventing crimes, camera for proof but shield prevents from happening.

Andre Corkum: It is unfortunate in today's society that we have so much violence, but camera's, dividers between the driver and the passengers may be necessary. GPS tracking might be another option. Unfortunately it can be dangerous.

Driver assault prompts calls for cameras in cabs

Ounce of prevention?
Association president says dashboard cameras could reduce regular attacks on taxi drivers

The president of the Halifax Taxi Drivers Owners Association is renewing his call for security cameras in cabs after a driver was assaulted and had his car stolen in Dartmouth.

A 35-year-old driver was assaulted in Dartmouth early Sunday by five passengers who demanded money and stole the taxi when the driver leaped out to seek help.

Al DesLaurier said this type of incident happens all too often, and many times, the situation escalates.

"This is an incident that happens twice a week. You usually hear of gun play or knife play as well," he said on Monday.

DesLaurier said at least one major cab company in Halifax is taking a serious look at financing the security cameras, but he wouldn't say which one.

Casino Taxi's operations manager said it is looking at various options, but nothing is definite yet.

"We're looking into a lot of things, but nothing is on the horizon yet," Brian Herman said.

The victim in Sunday's incident suffered only minor injuries, but DesLaurier said the attack, like so many others, could have been prevented if there was a camera present in the cab.

"A camera could have prevented the assassination of (cab driver Sergei Kostin) over in Dartmouth a few years ago as well," he said.

DesLaurier said cameras can deter violent criminals, but also provide evidence in court for accidents and assaults against drivers.

"If you have a camera on the dash, that's the judge and jury right there," he said. "Even if there's an accident or if you have a driver that angers someone and a woman says, 'Oh, he touched me', the camera would end the story."

East Coast Music Week a 'shot in the arm' for Halifax

Crowd pleaser. Festival has positive impact on local businesses and musicians

HALEY RYAN

haley.ryan@metronews.ca

The stages are dark, guitars are unplugged and fans have headed home, but the East Coast Music Week has left its mark on Halifax.

While the festival has ended, Gordon Stewart, the executive director of the Restaurant Association of Nova Scotia, said visitors gave the city's economy a "good shot in the arm."

"It's a good crowd to be in town at that time of year," Stewart said on Monday.

"Everyone seemed to be doing really, really well and a lot of places were just jam-packed and full, and hadn't been that full in a while."

Stewart said hosting the ECMAs is "definitely better" than the Halifax International Busker Festival for the city's bar and restaurant scene because so many events are held at the establishments themselves.

"It's a lot of concentration right in the actual operations," Stewart said. "That really has a big payback overall."

For Halifax pop-musician Rich Aucoin, having the awards in his own city was "very convenient" and a great way to see long-distance friends.

"It's like having a house party that you don't have to go to, and luckily I don't have to clean up after," Aucoin said with a grin before the awards show on Sunday.

two awards during the gala, and before the show, bassist Craig Eugene Harris said the week had gone by in a blur, and was "just a blast."

Veteran Prince Edward Island musician Lennie Gallant received a 25th-anniversary award alongside artists such as Natalie MacMaster and the Barra MacNeils.

Gallant said while it's nice the ECMAs have had the impact they've had over the years, he added trophies aren't the important thing.

"It's the idea that people are getting together and celebrating music from this region, and the fact that we have something to offer," Gallant said Sunday walking the red carpet.

"The rest of the world is taking notice. They're coming here to see it, and they're going, 'Wow, it really is something worth watching.'"

Former mayor Kelly settles with Thibeault heirs

Former Halifax mayor Peter Kelly has reached a settlement with the other heirs of a woman who died more than eight years ago, having named him the executor of her will.

"Mediation was successful and the Probate Court was so advised," says a release issued Monday by the law firm Boyne Clarke. "The Court has now issued an Order confirming approval of Mr. Kelly's accounts and his discharge as personal representative."

Kelly was removed as executor of Mary Thibeault's estate in September when five of the other heirs went to probate court to protest his handling of the will.

Kelly took $145,000 from the estate in addition to the five per cent allocated to him as executor of the will. He returned the funds in March 2012, shortly after an exposé on the Thibeault estate in The Coast.

A hearing was scheduled in probate court last week to review Kelly's accounting of the estate, but it was postponed when lawyers for Kelly and the other five heirs reached a settlement.

A probate court judge approved the settlement on Monday, but details won't be revealed.

"The terms of the settlement are confidential," says the release from Boyne Clarke.

"The personal representatives, their counsel and the heirs are not at liberty to disclose any of the terms of settlement."

Police in Halifax are reminding motorists to take their keys with them when leaving their vehicles.

Between Nov. 1, 2012, and March 7 of this year, Halifax RCMP say 43 vehicles were stolen in Tantallon, Cole Harbour and Lower Sackville. In 17 of the thefts, motorists left their keys inside the vehicles.

"The numbers are increasingly high — 40 per cent is too many," spokesman Cpl. Scott MacRae said.

He said car thieves are looking for an easy hit — vehicles left open so they can take items and sell them for cash or go on joyrides and use them for break-and-enters.

"We've had suspects caught saying they go around and check for open doors," he said.

MacRae said the keys are usually left in the ignition or someplace owners think is hidden.

Police want to remove any opportunity would-be thieves have to steal vehicles, which, in turn, will keep streets safer, they say. MacRae suggests people tap into social media and the RCMP to educate themselves and spread the word.

"People who talk about it, hopefully, will think more, and we encourage people to look at social-media sites," he said.

Halifax man dies in Cape Breton road accident

A 68-year-old Halifax man was killed on Monday in a single-vehicle crash in Cape Breton.

The driver was pronounced dead at the scene. His name hasn't been released and police are investigating. METRO

Spending scandal. Trial for ex-MLA MacKinnon set to begin Tuesday

The trial of a former Liberal cabinet minister charged in Nova Scotia's spending scandal is set to begin Tuesday in provincial Supreme Court.

Russell MacKinnon pleaded not guilty last May to charges of fraud, breach of trust and uttering forged documents.

Five days have been set aside for his trial.

Defence lawyer Joel Pink says he believes it could take that many days to complete the proceedings.

Pink says he won't make any decisions on what witnesses if any will be called for the defence until the Crown completes its case.

Former Liberal Dave Wilson was sentenced last April after admitting to defrauding the public purse of nearly $61,000. He was released from custody in August after serving four months of a nine-month sentence.

No charges. Police called to on-ice dustup at minor hockey tournament

Oh, the good ol' hockey game.

Halifax Regional Police say they were called to the Gray Arena in Dartmouth on Monday morning after receiving calls about several fights happening on the ice at one time between two teams taking part in the Joe Lamontagne Memorial March Break Tournament.

Police spokesman Const. Dianne Woodworth says some players were even being chased during the brawl, and tempers began to flare up among those in the crowd.

She said it was felt by those who called police that the situation "was getting out of hand."

"People in the stands were getting pretty upset," she said. "So they did the right thing by calling us."

Woodworth said when officers arrived, order was restored between the two midget A teams, the Cole Harbour Wings and Parrsboro Predators.

She said officers waited for both teams to leave the arena after the game. No charges were laid but several players were kicked out of the game by the referee.

Whether he was killed or committed suicide, the jailhouse death Monday of a man on trial for the gang rape and fatal beating of a woman on a New Delhi bus has triggered shock at the enormous security failure at one of India's best-known prisons.

Authorities said Ram Singh, who was accused of driving the bus during the December attack, was in a cell with three other inmates at Tihar Jail in New Delhi when he hanged himself, either with his own clothes or a bedsheet, at about 5:30 a.m.

stances which could have led to Ram Singh committing suicide. There was no mental stress. He was very happy (about the trial's course)," his lawyer V.K. Anand said.

Singh, 33, had been among five defendants facing the death penalty if convicted of the rape attack, which horrified Indians and set off national protests. A sixth accused is being tried and jailed separately because he is a juvenile.

Singh's death in custody raised further questions about a criminal justice system already under attack for failing to protect the nation's women.

Lawyers want closed Magnotta hearing

Accused of murder and dismembering. Counsel says letting public stay may prevent a fair trial

Lawyers for the man accused of murdering a Chinese student and dismembering his body want the media and public barred from his preliminary hearing.

The evidence presented Monday supporting the motion by lawyers for Luka Rocco Magnotta is subject to a publication ban.

Magnotta's legal team, led by Toronto-based lawyer Luc Leclair, argue the only people who should be allowed to remain in the courtroom are the prosecutors, the judge and a court clerk.

They say it's necessary to guarantee a fair trial.

Magnotta has pleaded not guilty to a charge of first-degree murder in the slaying of Jun Lin last May. The preliminary hearing will determine whether there is enough evidence to send him to trial.

A handful of journalists were able to cram into a high-security room, with as many as 30 people in a spill-over room in another part of the courthouse. Some media members lined up before the crack of dawn to get inside.

Those present at the courthouse included Daran Lin, the victim's father, who travelled from China.

A lawyer representing Lin's parents said he supports the media's fight to keep the hearing open.

Mark Bantey, a lawyer representing several media organizations, said the automatic publication ban that comes with a preliminary hearing "covers all the evidence (and) is more than sufficient to protect the rights of the accused to a fair trial."

Quebec court Judge Lori-Renee Weitzman is expected to rule on the matter Tuesday morning.

New cosmetics can't use animal-tested ingredients

The EU banned the sale of new cosmetic products containing ingredients tested on animals with immediate effect Monday.

"This is a great opportunity for Europe to set an example of responsible innovation in cosmetics without any compromise on consumer safety," said Tonio Borg, the EU's top official on health and consumer issues.

Animal rights groups were quick to cheer the measure, but trade body Cosmetics Europe said it "acts as a brake on innovation." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Judge strikes down sugary-drink rule

New York City's ground-breaking limit on the size of sugar-laden drinks has been struck down by a judge before it was set to take effect.

The restriction was supposed to start Tuesday. Manhattan state Supreme Court Justice Milton Tingling writes that loopholes "effectively defeat the stated purpose" of the rule. The rule prohibits selling non-diet soda and some other sugary beverages in containers bigger than 16 ounces. It applies at places ranging from pizzerias to sports stadiums, though not at supermarkets or convenience stores.

House prices to stay flat for 10 years: TD

Real estate. Following decade of strong gains, report says it's time for a bit of payback

Canada's real estate bonanza of the past decade has come to an end and the long-term trend as one of the most profitable places to invest is also not encouraging, a new research paper from TD Bank argues.

The "special report" from one of Canada's largest banks makes the case that gains in housing prices have been exceptionally strong over the last 10 years, even when accounting for a sharp drop during the 2008-09 recession. But now is the time for a bit of a payback.

The report does not predict a collapse in house prices as some analysts have suggested. In fact, it sees prices rebounding after a few years of a correction to as high as eight per cent.

However, the longer term trend is for home price gains

A new report from TD Bank predicts that the longer-term trend is for house prices to gain an average of about two per cent over the next 10 years, which is flat once inflation is taken into account. JUSTIN SULLIVAN/GETTY IMAGES to average about two per cent over the next 10 years — flat once inflation is taken into account, says TD chief economist Craig Alexander.

"I do not think we have a housing bubble in Canada," said Alexander. "We have had abnormal strength in the market during a period of low interest rates and when rates go up over the next three years, you will get a cooling and weaker prices, but not a permanent shock and not a sharp correction." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Growth. OECD says Canada's economy isn't tops among G7

The Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development says Canada's economy is in a funk and may no longer be a leader among G7 industrialized nations in terms of growth.

The OECD's latest analysis of the global economy cites firming growth in the U.S. and Japan, as well as improving prospects for Germany. It says Canada's conditions point to continued growth but at a weak pace.

Ottawa has long boasted that Canada's growth was tops among the Group of Seven industrialized economies following the 2008-09 recession. But Canada's growth has been losing steam amid declining prices for key resource exports as well as a slower real estate market and other domestic factors.

A group of about a dozen Canadian economists advised Finance Minister Jim Flaherty last week to expect growth will remain below two per cent in 2013. THE CANADIAN PRESS

FACE IT: YOU LOVE YOURSELF

Ever wonder why some couples click, while others malfunction like an old Xbox 360?

The answer might be staring you in the face.

We're hardwired to seek out people whose features resemble our own, thanks to the part of our brain — the fusiform gyrus region, to be precise — devoted to facial recognition. We're put at ease by familiarity and inclined to trust someone with a face that reminds us of our own, so says Christina Bloom, founder of findyourfacemate.com, a dating site that pairs singles based on facial-recognition technology.

There's a certain kind of vain gratification that comes from looking at yourself in the mirror, so it's not that hard to believe that we'd want to replicate that pleasure when gazing at the person lying next to us in bed. We've all seen those doppelgänger couples whose resemblance is so uncanny they could be mistaken for brother and sister. And while the desire to partner up with someone who looks just like us might seem completely narcissistic, there are actually subconscious biological drives at work.

SHE SAYS

Bloom says there are a few competing scientific theories that explain why we're attracted to people who look like us. "Some theories relate to imprinting, some to trust and others to narcissism," says Bloom. "Scientists don't agree on exactly why it works, we only know for sure that it does."

Launched in 2011, Bloom's dating site is based on studies of positive assortative mating. Researchers took physical measurements of married couples — including cranial and facial features — and found significant correlations in more than half of the numbers.

The site uses a unique algorithm to analyze 67 different facial points and match up would-be couples.

"It is a very nuanced matrix with a primary focus on the outline of the face and the placement of features," says Bloom. It's not necessarily the size of your nose or the colour of your eyes that matters but how those facial features are arranged and overall face shape.

So what about those people who have a negative self-image? If someone thinks of themselves as unattractive, would they still be likely to fall for someone with similar facial features? Surprisingly, yes, they would.

"It's an unconscious phenomenon; it has nothing to do with how we feel about ourselves," says Bloom. "I have men tell me all the time that their partners are so much more attractive than they are (but) when I see them together, it's obvious how similar their facial features are."

At last, dating someone for their looks is no longer considered shallow, it's science.

We are innately narcissistic beings — wielding a subconscious tape measure to see if the length of a potential suitor's face measures up to our own.

Fans of Harry Styles and his bandmates at One Direction need not worry.

This scary-looking procedure was just to prepare models of the boys at the famous Madame Tussauds waxwork museum in London,

Since 1835, Madame Tussauds has immortalized some of the world's biggest names, such as Queen Elizabeth II, who is now on her 23rd model. METRO WORLD NEWS

Life of Pi

Director: Ang Lee

Stars: Suraj Sharma, Irrfan Khan, Adil Hussain

With Life of Pi, Oscar-winning director Ang Lee has a simple goal. He wants us to accept as real a computer-generated Bengal tiger by the odd name of Richard Parker. The request is simple, the effect is extraordinary. Other things may seem in doubt in this delightful, rousing tale of a teen and a tiger on a Pacific Ocean adventure. Based on the Man Booker Prize-winning novel by Canada's Yann Martel, the film leaves its options open and hopes that our minds will be, too. You may or may not leave a viewing of Life of Pi with an enhanced appreciation of mankind's delicate relationship with animals and nature. Your belief (or disbelief) in an all-powerful deity may be confirmed or quashed. Your definition of "truth" may need revising. But the film's visual marvels are undeniable. Like the book, Life of Pi leaves us puzzling over what we've seen and heard. But never for a moment do we doubt the film's expressive storytelling, imagery and sense of wonder.

Lara Croft's makeover

Tomb Raider. Reboot of classic video game franchise sees its heroine morph from bombshell to the tough girl next door

ROMINA MCGUINNESS
Metro World News in London

Indiana Jones with big boobs: That summed up the basic appeal of Tomb Raider, the best-selling video game franchise that launched in 1996. The reboot, out now, has a less-busty Lara Croft. Why the change?

"What we start with, anytime you create a character, is their biography," Brian Horton, senior art director of Tomb Raider at Crystal Dynamics, tells Metro.

"We knew Lara was this kick butt hero, but we felt she'd become more of an icon and less of a human. People didn't have much affinity for her."

"So our challenge was to come up with a concept that was relatable but at the same time, felt iconic."

Survival is the main theme here, something that allowed the game developers to revisit Croft's origin story.

"We made it so that she wasn't necessarily focused on being the sheltered aristocratic girl," says Horton.

"She's 21 and just out of university. She still has famous archaeologist parents but there was a point where she just stuck out on her own. Whatever comes at her, she's going to do what it takes to get through it."

Horton talks us through Lara Croft's makeover.

The new Lara Croft is more "humanized" with an athletic build. HANDOUT

How did the game developers go about handling Lara's makeover?

After we knew who she was, we went through a series of drawings, about 60 in total. The first step was to humanize her. In terms of her proportions, she wasn't as much of a bombshell. We kept some of the signature components: the ponytail, the brown eyes and the full M-shaped lips, but we made it much more realistic in its treatment.

Was it all based on these drawings? Or did you use a real life model?

We used one girl for her face and one for her body.

We wanted someone normal, not a pin up. We chose models that had body fat to them; that weren't super skinny. The body model is actually a stunt-woman with a really proportional, athletic physique.

At what point were you like: "We nailed it! We have the new Lara."

Once we have our concept and our model, it comes down to the way she performs in the world. When she's hurt, she'll clutch her side. When she's in a claustrophobic cage, she'll touch the walls. Adding Camilla Luddington (the British actress who did the voice and performance capture for the cinematics) to bring her to life was a huge part of the equation. That's where the believability came in. And even though she wasn't the model that inspired the look of it, when you look at Lara Croft on screen, there's a lot of Camilla in her.

The "old" Lara Croft is famous for her bust. The same can't be said of this version. What did you take her bra size down to?

I don't even know. It's not something I even think about. Before, there was so much emphasis on what her bra size was ... We never understood the fascination.

Fans will have noticed she's no longer wearing hot pants...

We wanted it to feel as practical as possible. Her clothes are much more down to earth: cargo pants, adventure boots and a dual tank top. It still feels like her. Just without the shorts, of course.

Readers, important question: do any of you even watch The View? Maybe I'm mistaking this squawkfest of an hour with The Chew, or maybe even The Talk.

Regardless, I must say I was a teensy bit surprised when Joy Behar announced her resignation from the ABC morning show last week — homegirl's been there since the beginning. And then, like your little sister who just couldn't stand it when you got all the attention, Elisabeth Hassel-a-hack came out and was like, "Oh yeah? Well I'm leaving too! Hmph!" In the corner, Joy Behar cried out "No fair!" to no one in particular. But it was too late. Our interest had been piqued. No longer was this a story about replacing Behar, a middle-aged woman whose voice reminds me of Gilbert Gottfried on a good day. No, now, it's about beautiful, blonde, conservative Elisabeth, too. Marsha, Marsha, Marsha!

So who should fill each lady's seat at the table? For Elisabeth, I nominate Ann Coulter: a healthy dose of conservative energy draped in a long blonde wig. For Behar, how about a cocka-too? Would probably be just as entertaining, and the hairstylist would still get to keep his job.

Dillon Casey knows all about physical roles. The Oakville, Ont., native plays Navy SEAL Sean Pierce on the TV series Nikita.

He also played rookie hockey player Trevor Lamonde in the CBC show MVP and recently filmed a mixed martial arts movie called Only I. But he's perhaps best known for playing Erica's first boyfriend, Ryan, on the CBC series Being Erica. Metro asked Casey to give us a look into his workout routine. METRO

Get ripped like a Navy SEAL

I play a Navy SEAL on Nikita and these guys are all about functionality. The muscular Schwarzenegger types could never make it through the training I do — it's too much wasted energy for your body to fuel all that extra weight.

These exercises will give you a useful body. You'll be a workhorse with great muscular endurance and explosive power. Keep changing it up. Keep your body guessing. Keep it interesting and you'll keep coming back for more.

Bodybuilders

Grab a set of dumbbells and, holding onto them, position yourself at the top of a push-up. Do a full push-up, then kick your feet to your hands. Stand straight up, keeping your back straight and lifting with your legs. You'll be in the perfect position to do a curl, so do one. Then press the weights up so your palms are facing forward and the inside of the dumbbells are in line with the tops of your shoulders. Keeping your weight on your heels, do a full squat. At the top of the squat do a military press (pushing the weights over your head and lowering them back down). Then lower the weights back down until they're on the ground and kick your legs back behind you until you're at the top of a pushup.

Mountain climbers

Again you start at the top of a push-up. Keeping your hands on the ground, bring your right leg forward so you look like a sprinter about to start a race. Switch your left leg with your right — do it as fast as you can for a minute (you'll look like you're basically running on the spot with your hands on the ground). This exercise is great cardio and it blasts your calves, shoulders and triceps. And it's a killer ab workout.

Dumbbell punches

This one sounds easy, but it'll kill you. Grab a set of dumbbells. Stand with your feet a bit wider than shoulder width (or into a comfortable fighting position, like a boxer). Lean back slightly, get your hands into boxer-ready position and start punching up at 45 degrees. Do it for a minute. If you need to stop ($20 says you will), instead of resting quickly grab lighter weights and keep going. This is good for the heart and will rip your shoulders. And if you ever need to punch somebody in the face, your arms will feel like sledgehammers. Do it for a minute, no rest. Next!

Lunge with a twist

switch your feet, twisting in the process. Try to do it for a minute. If you can't finish, lose the medicine ball and keep going. Guys, this will give you a hockey player's ass and cut-up quads (ladies, this one will give you those perfect sexy summer legs that I like). It's also a great calorie burner. I love this one since it keeps me quick on my toes and gives me strong, responsive legs and feet for my fighting and action scenes.

Beating boredom

My workouts have become all about maintaining interest. After hitting the gym for 14 years straight it starts to get old, so I've learned to adapt and change as I go.

I start with 30 to 45 minutes of cardio, but try to keep my body guessing. I'll sometimes do an HIIT workout on the treadmill with some interval training — the issue here is making sure I give myself enough time to recover.

After cardio I'll do a five-minute ab circuit. I've been setting up a "round timer" on my iPhone. I'll do five different ab exercises at a minute each with little rest in between (10 seconds max): bicycle crunches, flutter kicks, scissor kicks, the ab roller and drop elbows (look this one up — it's a grind).

ing naturally out in front of you. Pull the weights back as far as you can — you should feel like you're pinching your shoulder blades together. Hold for a second, then slowly lower back down. This will work most of your upper back. Secondary muscles at work are biceps and shoulders. Do it for a minute. Keep your knees bent so you don't put too much stress on your lower back.

YOUR ANSWERS FOR EXAM PREP

It's almost that time of year that all students dread — exam time. The time of year where students go into hiding, cramming and stressing for those final exams that are just around the corner.

Take the pressure off this year and prepare for those exams and final projects a bit earlier and save yourself the headache.

The first and most important tip for preparing for an exam, or even exam season, is to make sure you get plenty of rest. If students are not resting properly, they lose the ability to focus on the task at hand.

There is nothing worse than going over material a thousand times, but not being able to fully take it in because you are too tired to comprehend it. A shorter amount of study time where you are completely focused is always better than double that time where you are only partially focused.

Next, start preparing early. Don't leave the exam preparation to the last minute. By reviewing course material right after the class or at the end of each day, you may be able to retain the information better.

ISTOCKPHOTO/THINKSTOCK

Third, set realistic study goals.

By breaking up course materials into smaller study sections, getting through the material will seem more achievable and less likely to cause you exam stress.

Next, get comfortable. Find an environment where you are free of distraction and can work comfortably.

Also, get some exercise. Getting out of the house or place of study and getting some form of exercise will help refocus your energy for when you get back to the books. Exercise may also help you feel more tired at the end of the day and may lead to a better sleep.

Finally, take good care of yourself.

With proper rest, exercise and also diet, avoid illness or stress-related issues by making sure you are in your best mental and physical state when entering into exam season.

Just like a top athlete, top students need to train and prepare to reach that finish line successfully. — Candice Ward

MONEY MATTERS

Not every 18 year-old, or even more mature student, has a few thousand dollars just laying around.

So when the decision is made to pursue post-secondary education, students are always left with the problem of how to fund their new endeavour.

Sure, rich or smart-planning parents who have saved money for you since you were born always helps, but most students don't have that luxury and are stuck searching for ways to pay for their education on their own.

Thankfully, students in Canada have a number of options when it comes to paying for their education. Aside from using money already saved, there are a number of scholarships, bursaries and grants that are available to students through a number of different sources.

One of the first places to start searching is your school's website. Many institutions have links to scholarships and grants available for their students. It may take some digging around and a few applications to fill out, but these are great ways to chip away at the thousands of dollars for tuition, books and even cost of living.

Part-time jobs are also a great way to supplement your income while in school. A great way to make use of your part-time job is to look for employment in the field where you are studying since it will give you a feel for the industry you are hoping to get into.

Looking for a part-time entry-level job in an organization where you are hoping to work after your post-secondary education is a great way to get your foot in the door and make connections.

Finally, when looking to fund your education, seeking out loans is the most common way to secure funding. Places such as your bank or Canada Students Loans are available to help you with your journey to higher education.

The course of true love never did run smooth, but would an e-coach help?

Calling in the pros.

Internet dating consultant likens his service to that of a personal trainer

NATALIE SHURE

Metro World News in NYC

Online dating is a reality of the love game, whether you're just looking around or on a serious quest for a lifelong partner.

Sites like OkCupid, Match.com and eHarmony try to make finding someone simple, but they can be disappointing and frustrating.

Now, one solution to the e-dating conundrum is gaining traction — consultants. These pros help clients strategize and punch up their profiles to stand out in the competitive world of digitalized courtship.

Tax myths that can cost you

Not true! Falling for these financial fallacies can get you into quite the pickle when it comes time for the taxman to go over your paperwork

YOUR MONEY

Alison Griffiths
money@metronews.ca

For the past few years H&R Block has been puncturing tax myths gleaned from their free online Q&A service.

It's one of my favourite topics at this time of year. The persistence of these myths is downright amazing. If you believe them they'll cost you time, trouble and money. Here are some of the most common:

1. Maternity leave and EI income is not taxable.

Income is income and the government always wants its pound of flesh! Be warned, in both cases; Service Canada withholds at less than the lowest marginal tax rate. Depending on tax credits, you may have tax owing at the end of the year.

2. RRSP contributions don't have to be reported if the deduction isn't claimed.

Even if you aren't claiming a deduction for the contributions, you are still required to record the fact that you made them. "If you don't claim a deduction in the year it was made, you will have to file for a readjustment, which can be a pain," warns Cleo Hamel, senior tax analyst at H&R Block Canada.

3. Tips are not considered income.

This is an enduring tax myth. Anyone earning tips in any industry is required to report the amount. For servers, tips may be as much as 100 to 400 per cent of their income, depending on the restaurant. "I recommend that those in the industry set aside 20 per cent of all their tips for tax purposes," notes Cleo Hamel.

In 2011 Revenue Canada targeted restaurant workers in St. Catharines, Ont. The average additional tax tab was $1,500.

4. Students get refunds on their tuition.

In order to get a refund, you need to have overpaid tax during the year. If a student does not have taxable income, they cannot use their tuition and education credits on their return. Note: Students can transfer up to $5,000 annually to a parent, grandparent or spouse or they can carry forward credits to use in future years. However, tuition must be recorded on the return in the year it is paid.

Rainmen's Spon wants wins to get into playoffs

The Halifax Rainmen's head coach knows a scenario that can get his team into the playoffs through the back door.

But Rob Spon is refusing to consider that yet. He's determined to make the post-season through the front entrance by winning his last two games of the year, including Tuesday's home matchup against the league-leading London Lightning.

"I'm not prepared to rest our playoff hopes on whether another team loses," Spon said.

Wins against London and Summerside Storm on Saturday guarantee the Rainmen a play-off spot. Two losses and they're out.

The Lightning, Storm and Windsor Express are poised for three of the five play-off spots.

The Rainmen (19-19) are currently tied with the Saint John Mill Rats (19-19) and the Moncton Miracles (20-20) for the remaining slots. But since Halifax boasts the worst intra-divisional record of the lot they would be the odd team out in a tiebreaker.

Should the Rainmen win only one of their remaining games they would need the Mill Rats to lose both theirs to qualify for the playoffs.

But Spon refuses to look that far ahead.

"I know we have it in us to do it. If we play our game then no one can beat us," he said. ANDREW RANKIN/METRO

Drouin returns as Moose dump Titan

Hot Herd. Powerhouse Halifax has now won 13 of past 14 games

ANDREW RANKIN

andrew.rankin@metronews.ca

Jonathan Drouin returned to the Halifax Mooseheads' lineup on Monday night and picked up right where he left off.

The skilled sniper finished a beautiful dangle in the opening period and added a pair of assists to lead the Mooseheads to a convincing 5-2 victory over the Bathurst Titan in front of 8,338 fans at the Metro Centre.

"It was just great to be on the ice again," Drouin said. "I'm just not the same unless I'm playing hockey. It took me a while to get rid of the cobwebs but then I got back in the rhythm."

The home squad was in control from the get-go. Mooseheads forward Stefan Fournier got Halifax on the board just 26 seconds into the first. From there the Mooseheads put the contest away with three straight goals.

Drouin came back with a vengeance after missing three games with a minor leg injury. With his three-point effort, Drouin notched his 101st point of the season to tie Lower Sackville's Ben Duffy and his P.E.I. Rocket teammate Josh Currie for the QMJHL scoring lead.

Martin Frk collected a pair of goals and an assist while Fournier added a helper and Andrew Ryan tallied once to Mooseheads defenceman Konrad Abeltshauser has been nominated for the Émile "Butch" Bouchard Trophy (best defenceman) along with the Humanitarian Mooseheads bench boss Dominique Ducharme is a finalist for the Ron Lapointe Trophy as coach of the year and Cam Russell is up for the Maurice Filion Trophy (general manager of the year).

Ravens send WR Boldin to San Fran

Here's a Super Bowl twist: A guy who helped Baltimore beat San Francisco for the NFL title now is a 49er.

San Francisco acquired wide receiver Anquan Boldin from the Ravens for a sixth-round draft pick on Monday. Boldin, a star in Baltimore's run to the Super Bowl title last season, must pass a Boldin had six catches for 104 yards and a touchdown in the Ravens' 34-31 Super Bowl victory over the 49ers.

But he was due $6 million in 2013, the final year of his contract. After Boldin and the Ravens failed to agree on a restructured deal, Baltimore worked out a deal with San Francisco rather than simply cut him from the roster.

Horoscopes

♈ Aries

March 21 - April 20

Do something out of the ordinary today, something shocking. With Mars, your ruling planet, moving into your birth sign you don't care who you astonish. You only care that you get noticed.

♉ Taurus

April 21 - May 21

Honesty may not always be the best policy, as you will discover today. If someone asks what you think of something you will tell them, only to find they did not want the truth, they wanted flattery.

♊ Gemini

May 22 - June 21

You need to follow up on an idea. If you don't, you could find that someone else has beaten you to it and you won't be happy. Don't worry that it's not perfect yet, just start.

♋ Cancer

June 22 - July 23

Someone you may not have been on good terms with lately will offer you good advice. Don't be too proud to take it. There is no point in trying to force through changes that are not going to work.

♌ Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

Whatever you say and whatever you do over the next 24 hours, you must act on the assumption that you are being watched by people in positions of power. Make sure you put on your best front.

♍ Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

Social activities will bring a lot of pleasure today and if you don't make any new friends it can only be because your old friends refuse to share you with the rest of the world. It's nice to be popular.

♎ Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

Just because you can't see the path you should be taking does not mean you should give up. Trust your instincts and let them guide you. They are linked to a higher power that knows what you need.

♏ Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

Try to be constructive in your criticism, even though you may have to look hard to find something positive to say about a colleague who has done something silly.

♐ Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

You may be eager to get started on something that has fired your imagination but make sure you've done your homework before you commit yourself. It won't only cost you time but money as well.

♑ Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

Don't make too many plans. Conditions are changing fast and you will need to stay flexible if you are going to make the most of approaching upheavals. You have everything to look forward to.

♒ Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

You may have to push yourself to complete certain tasks but it will be an effort worth making. People in positions of authority will be impressed by your sense of duty.

♓ Pisces

Feb. 20 - March 20

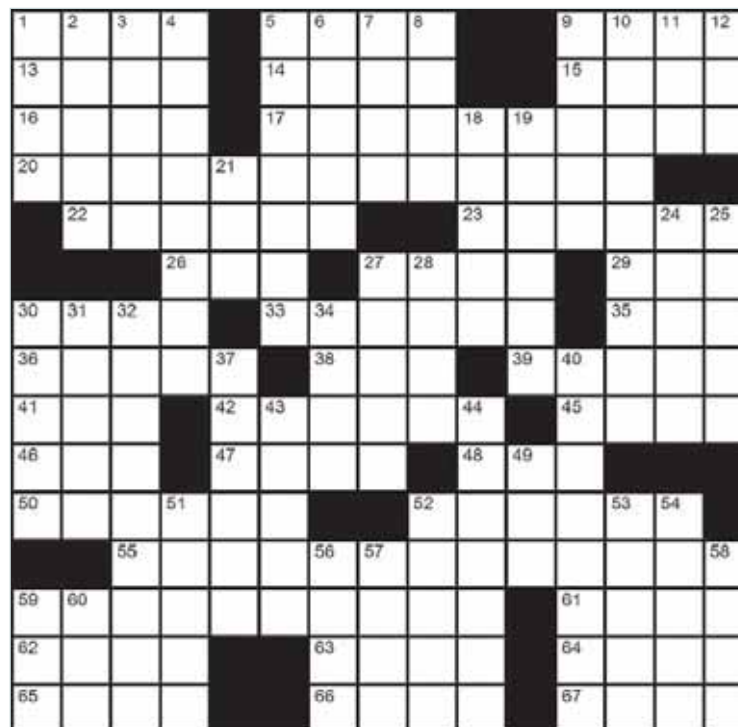

If you desire something strongly enough you will find a way to get it, though it may not arrive in quite the way you intended! Be flexible and be ready to receive what the universe wants to give you.
